

Aurora: U.S. market entry

Competition recommendation / SECC / 2026

A historical team recommendation, not a deployed client program.

Selected positioning and execution exhibits.

Financial model pages and unverified outcome projections are excluded.

Original source pages: 1, 6, 14, 17

Original sources preserved. Selected excerpts follow without alteration.

2026 Southeast Case Competition

Five Star Consulting

Bao Vo
Shiuan-Bai Ann
Wendi Ma
Bide Chen
Yueheng Xing

Scaling the Spark: Capturing the U.S. Premium Beverage Market

Prepared for Maya Arthur, CEO
SECC Case Competition 2026

Position To win - Targeted Consumer Launch For ASJ

Positioning

Potential

Channel

Margins

Consumer Behavior

A

Value/Family Multi-serve

Mainstream beverage for daily consumption

- Mass-market, price-sensitive, promo-heavy
- High volume but slow growth
- Grocery/Club
- Very low (~14%)
- Functional Purchase (Value dominates)

B

Premium Single-serve

Convenient, premium ready-to-drink sparkling

- Mass-premium, brand-driven, convenience-focus
- Moderate volume with steady growth
- Grocery/Convenience
- High (~42%)
- Brand-led purchase (Quality & convenience matter)

C

Better-for-you

Low-sugar/Functional health-oriented drink

- Premium, health-focused, differentiation-driven
- Smaller volume but fastest growth
- Natural/Specialty, E-commerce
- Highest (~43%)
- Purpose-driven purchase (Benefits & ingredients matter)

Segment	A	B	C
Contribution Margin ($/L)	$0.17	$1.06	$1.37
Incumbent Margin ($/L)	$0.27	$1.15	$1.45
Incumbent Gap ($/L)	$0.1	$0.09	$0.08

Segment C offers the strongest entry point: fastest growth channels, highest margins, and closest gap to incumbent advantage.

Implementation Roadmap: Key Milestones from Logistics Setup to Multi-Channel Scaling

Appendix: Targeting CA and the Northeast Maximizes Capital Efficiency of U.S. Premium Retail Footprint and the Highest Concentration of Organic Grocery Spend

